LETNAUNCHYN NAMED TO THE STATE JOURNAL'S 2019 WHO'S WHO IN WEST VIRGINIA BUSINESS LIST

CHARLESTON, WV – Joe Letnaunchyn, the West Virginia Hospital Association (WVHA) President and CEO, has been named to The State Journal's 2019 Who's Who in West Virginia Business list.

The State Journal has honored business leaders as Who's Who recipients since 1993. According to The State Journal, "The winners are professionals throughout the state who have blazed a trail to improve things in their local communities and the Mountain State as a whole, all while being good neighbors with giving spirits."

Mr. Letnaunchyn stated, "It is an honor to be named as a Who's Who recipient. I love my job, and I enjoy working with our hospitals and state leaders to improve the quality of health for all West Virginians."

Letnaunchyn has over 42 years of healthcare experience, 30 of those years working with state hospital associations representing multi-hospital health systems, specialty hospitals, small rural, and critical access hospitals. He is actively involved in state and federal legislative activities and participates in several business and other healthcare related organizations that interact with hospitals. He has been with WVHA since 2006.

The Who's Who In West Virginia Business awards luncheon was held on Friday, June 14, 2019 at the Embassy Suites in Charleston.
